About Turner Syndrome

Turner syndrome is a genetic condition affecting approximately 1 in 2,000 girls. Individuals with Turner syndrome may face medical, developmental, and education challenges throughout their lives.

The Turner Syndrome Foundation works to:

- Promote awareness and education
- Support individuals and families
- Fund research initiatives
- Advocate for improved healthcare and resources

Why Start a TSF Campus Club?

Starting a campus club allows students to create meaningful impact while developing valuable personal and professional skills.

Start Your Club Today

As a campus leader you can:

- Educate peers about Turner syndrome
- Organize awareness campaigns
- Lead fundraising initiatives
- Build a community of advocates
- Partner with health and education programs on campus

Students help expand national awareness while strengthening their own leadership experience

Join a growing network of college students helping expand awareness for individuals affected by Turner syndrome

Campus leaders play an important role in helping expand awareness and community support.
